Please Inform the Doctor

The success of periodontal therapy is dependent on many factors including the severity of the periodontal destruction, the patient's general physical health status, and the patient's ability and willingness to perform proper oral hygiene and stay on a recall program after active treatment.

As with treatment of any complex condition, especially where drugs and surgical procedures are being used, unusual and unanticipated problems can arise, such as bleeding, prolonged numbness, sensitivity to medications, sensitive or loose teeth and pulp damage. We will make every effort to keep you informed of the treatment necessary for you. Feel free to ask questions at any time as your involvement and understanding are very important to the long term success of your periodontal therapy.

With implant surgery, the potential risks and complications involved could include pain, swelling, infection, and discoloration. Numbness of the lip, tongue, chin, cheek, or tooth may occur. The exact duration may not be determinable and may be irreversible. Also possible are inflammation, injury to teeth, bleeding, bone fractures, sinus infection, and delayed healing. In some instances, implants fail and must be removed. Please advise us of any additional information that would be helpful with your treatment.
